CALENDAR SUMMARY:

Child Protective Services Law (CPSL) in Pennsylvania has undergone substantial review and amendment. This online course is designed to highlight and explain recent changes in the law affecting the work of the Commonwealth's child welfare professionals, and to support effective implementation of the amended law. Pennsylvania Child Protective Services Law: An Update for Child Welfare Professionals is designed as a series of nine stand-alone modules. The overall objectives of the course are for the participant to:

- ✓ Recognize the ways that amendments to the Child Protective Services Law impact the work of child welfare professionals
- ✓ Cite at least one way that the amended Child Protective Services Law promotes and enables better protection for Pennsylvania's children and youth, and the attainment of children's health and safety
- ✓ Review the amended Child Protective Services Law to prepare for its implementation in the reporting and response to incidents of suspected child abuse and neglect
- ✓ Relate the Child Protective Services Law amendments to the promotion of best practice as defined by the values and outcomes of Pennsylvania's Child Welfare Practice Model and the commitment to continuous improvement in the practice of child welfare
- ✓ Identify effective dates of key amendments to the law and determine whether amended law applies to a given case
- ✓ Identify what is retained, removed, or added to definitions and processes defined by the amended Child Protective Services Law
- ✓ Explain the importance of the child welfare professional's role in supporting awareness of the changes and expansion of reporting responsibilities under amended law, and in communicating those responsibilities to others
- ✓ Describe the increased collaboration with internal and external partners that amended law requires in a multi-disciplinary approach to investigation, including the function of Multi-Disciplinary Investigative Teams (MDITs) and of Child Advocacy Centers (CACs)
- ✓ Locate at least one available resource to support successful implementation of the amended Child Protective Services Law

This support session represents a follow up to the Pennsylvania Child Protective Services Law: An Update for Child Welfare Professionals online learning event. The purpose of this session is to incorporate the use of the skills within specific modules of the CPSL curriculum into their own practice on a consistent basis.

This support session is eligible for up to 2 continuing education hours.
