

According to the International Committee for the Red Cross:

“The government has limited ability to help. After that, you better have family.”